

Josephine Alawy, M.A. is an accomplished educational leader with extensive experience in teaching as well as administrative roles within the field of education. She holds a Master of Arts in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) from Eastern Michigan University and a Bachelor of Arts in Education from the University of Michigan, accompanied by certifications including State of Michigan Certified Trainer of Trainers and ESL Endorsement.

Currently serving as the Program Coordinator at Al Furqan Quran Academy, Sr. Josephine plays a pivotal role in creating educational partnerships and securing grant funding for the school. In this capacity, they bring their expertise in program development and strategic planning to ensure the school's continued success and growth.

She is also a faculty member at Wayne State University's College of Education, Sr. Josephine supervises and coaches teacher interns; including co-planning and coaching on lesson planning, providing feedback and grading. She actively engages in collaborative coaching, clinical instruction team meetings, and contributes to enhancing the overall effectiveness of the educational program.

In addition to administrative roles, Josephine also serves as a Field Instructor for the University of Michigan-Ann Arbor, contributing to the development and training of future educators in the field. Her commitment to educational excellence, coupled with her expertise in instructional coaching and staff development, makes them a valuable asset to any academic institution.